We recently hired Roy Benner from Benner Auto Advisors to certify a parts inventory for the buy/sell of a large wholesale parts operation.

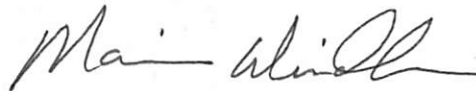

We were extremely pleased with the professional and ethical manner in which Benner Auto Advisors handled the inventory certification. We were in need of someone impartial that all parties could trust and were looking for assurances that all aspects of the inventory value would be considered. With Roy Benner's pristine reputation for honesty and his high ethical standards this goal was met. Roy's insights and knowledge of the automotive parts industry was extremely helpful in making both parties feel comfortable during this process. He made suggestions that were beneficial for all parties while drafting the initial agreement. His common sense and impartial approach put all parties at ease. The final report given was accurate, concise and clearly stated the inventory value, aging and all the specific elements required in the Buy / Sell agreement. All the information given has proven to be accurate and exactly as reported, in the subsequent months since the agreement has been completed. Benchmark Chrysler Jeep Dodge recommends Roy Benner and his firm and will use his services again if the need arises.
